THE HISTORY OF FOX & GOOSE PUBLIC HOUSE

For centuries pubs have been the gathering place for English men and women seeking a pint of ale, a game of darts or a visit with old friends...in every way a true "public house."

Located in the hometown of co-founder, Bill Dalton, the original Fox & Goose has been in operation for over 200 years in Hebden Bridge, West Yorkshire, a small town located near the scenic Moors of northern England.

Sacramento's Fox & Goose, although not nearly as old as the original, has captured the traditional qualities and added an atmosphere all its own.

Fox & Goose is housed in what was once the Fuller Paint and Glass Company. This distinctive brick building was constructed in 1917. Work on Fox & Goose began in January 1972, with the grand opening occurring on January 15, 1975.
